CREO

YOU'RE NOT ALONE

Many women feel their breasts no longer reflect how they want to look.

Lost volume, softness or shape can quietly chip away at confidence. Creams, exercises and push-up bras can only do so much — and not everyone wants implants. Fat transfer offers a natural, lasting alternative using your body's own fat.

Loss of volume over time

Fullness fades after weight loss, pregnancy or breastfeeding — especially in the upper breast.

Changes in shape or symmetry

It's common for breasts to differ slightly in size or shape, or to change naturally with time.

A preference for natural

For those who'd rather avoid implants, fat transfer enhances using the body's own fat.

WHAT IS BREAST FAT TRANSFER?

Your own fat, gently relocated to restore volume and refine shape — using nothing but you.

Fat is harvested from an area of excess through liposuction, carefully purified, then injected into the breasts to improve their volume and contour. There are no implants and no synthetic materials.

Nothing foreign placed in the body

THE TWO-IN-ONE ADVANTAGE

Two procedures, one operation.

Liposuction slims unwanted fat from a donor area — the abdomen, flanks or thighs — and that purified fat is used to enhance your breasts. A more sculpted silhouette, all in a single day-case procedure. Patients that want more extensive liposuction can discuss this during their consultation.

HOW IT WORKS

Three careful stages

01

Harvest

Liposuction removes fat from a chosen donor area — abdomen, flanks or thighs — slimming and contouring as it goes.

02

Purify

The harvested fat is gently processed and purified, leaving healthy fat cells ready for transfer.

03

Transfer

Purified fat is injected into the breasts at carefully chosen points to build volume and shape evenly.
